

Disclaimer – Citibank Premium Account

By investing in a Citibank Premium Account, you are allowing the bank to repay you at a future date in an alternate currency that is different from the currency in which your initial investment was made, regardless of whether you wish to be repaid in this currency at that time.

A Premium Account is unlike a traditional bank account as it is an investment and returns may vary. Premium Account is subject to a number of risks. A Premium Account is an investment in one or more foreign currencies. It is subject to foreign exchange rate fluctuations, which may provide both opportunities and risks. You may experience a loss when you convert any alternate currency into the base currency. The higher rate of interest you may earn in the Premium Account as compared to a traditional time deposit may not compensate you for the foreign exchange loss.

The Premium Account is not subject to the provisions of the Deposit Insurance and Policy Owners' Protection Schemes Act 2011 of Singapore and is not eligible for deposit insurance coverage under the Deposit Insurance Scheme.

Exchange controls may apply from time to time to certain foreign currencies.

Our Treasury Services Managers and Relationship Managers may assist you with information on any exchange controls that are relevant to the currencies in which you invest.

You should note that a Premium Account is an investment product that should be held to maturity. Early withdrawal of a part of a Premium Account prior to the maturity date is not permitted. Early withdrawal of the whole of a Premium Account is permitted but strongly discouraged, because you will have to pay early termination charges and these charges will be deducted from the amount repaid under the Premium Account. As a result, the amount repaid to you may be less than the principal amount.

If you wish to terminate your Premium Account prior to maturity, please contact the Bank. The Bank may, at any time at its discretion, terminate the Premium Account. This may happen, for example, if restrictions on convertibility and transferability become applicable to any of the currency in your Premium Account. In such cases, payment to you may be made in the alternate currency or another currency chosen by the Bank. You may incur a loss on the principal amount in such cases. You should obtain the advice of a licensed or an exempt financial advisor before making a commitment to enter into a Premium Account transaction. In the event that you choose not to seek advice from a financial adviser, you should carefully consider whether a Premium Account is suitable for you in light of your investment objectives, your financial means and your risk profile.

For more information on a Premium Account, you should also carefully read the terms and conditions of the Premium Account. Premium Account is not available to U.S. persons and may not be available in all jurisdictions. Citibank's full disclaimers, terms and conditions apply to individual products and banking services.
